

Amy Nelson, Home Transformations Staging & ReDesign, Named as a Top Expert in the Home Staging Industry 2023

Fixr.com’s list of the Top 30 experts in the home staging industry has just been released for 2023. The exclusive list names the most influential players in the sector, whose innovative and inspiring work is continuously contributing to the growth of the home staging industry as a whole. Fixr.com uses a rigorous method to find those who are deserving of their place on the list. This is based on their expertise and knowledge, experience, and growth as an inspiration to others. Their success at both national and local levels, combined with stand-out projects and esteemed reputations means they are warranted members of the Top 30 Home Stagers.

By being named by Fixr.com as part of the list, each expert’s prestige is recognized. Industry analyst Adam Graham says, “Home stagers have a huge impact on the real estate industry, which is why it’s important to keep homeowners informed about which experts are shaping current trends and driving the industry forward, and our Top 30 Home Stagers are doing just that.”

Inclusion in the list means Fixr.com confirms that Amy Nelson has shown strong leadership and expertise within the home staging industry. Amy’s continued innovation plays a vital part in the continued growth and evolution of home staging methods and trends in 2023.

About Amy Nelson

Amy started Home Transformations Staging & ReDesign to increase the appeal of every house on the market, and has been working with realtors, homeowners and investors to “level-up” home designs ever since. A resourceful creative at heart, in her younger years she travelled while working, just for the unusual experiences, and recently retired from 33 years in education. She brings her creativity into her staging designs, and has won a number of awards for her staging work. Her transformative designs encompass balance, thrift, beauty and cohesion that work together to highlight the features of every room.
